CLOSING DATE: Monday 12th July

Today Chinatown is a bustling mix of markets, food halls, souvenir shops and temples. It's somewhere that we all take our overseas visitors to try to give them a taste of the old Singapore. On this tour we will get to see many of the familiar streets eg Pagoda Street and the food street in a new light. But Chinatown also has a dark history which we invite you to explore with us.

This night walk, hosted especially for the BA by The Original Singapore Walks, revisits the Chinatown of the late 1800's where gas-lit brothels, opium and gambling dens abounded. Once known as Bu Ye Tian (Place of the Nightless Days) it has a rich history of vice and intrigue. We will be exploring, amongst others, the street of the dead and the red light district - this promises to be an unforgettable experience!

After the end of the tour we will go to the Toucan Pub in Duxton Hill for food and drinks. Please indicate on the booking form if you can join us so we can book a table.

Please send booking slips and cheques (made payable to BAoS) to: Michelle Richardson, 280 Ocean Drive, #05-02 The Coast, Singapore, 098451. Email: keith_michelle@btinternet.com. Booking slips can be downloaded from the website.

Do you know what was special about the 8th August 1988? Or why Singapore almost ran out of maternity beds and primary schools following certain 'auspicious' years? Find out how Feng Shui impacts on these and many other aspects of life in Singapore, on one of the tours' teams' all time favourite tours.

The ancient art of Feng Shui originated from China more than 3000 years ago. It is also known as Chinese Geomancy, concerned with studying the living environment of a person and understanding the relationship between man and the natural environment around him.

Our guide, Diana Chua, will take us on a tour of the city, pointing out interesting architectural features that are Fengshui-orientated. We will find out the traditions behind the landmarks along Orchard Road; visit the Fountain of Wealth and see a different side of the CBD. We also visit a well-known Geomancy centre to learn how Feng Shui is assessed, charted, and applied to ensure the desired results. If you are curious about Feng Shui and what your 'Four Pillars of Destiny' can reveal about you, sign up fast. We need all the good luck we can get in the year of the Tiger!

Please send booking slips and cheques (made payable to BAoS) to: Michelle Richardson, 280 Ocean Drive, #05-02 The Coast, Singapore, 098451. Email: keith_michelle@btinternet.com. Booking slips can be downloaded from the website.

Booking forms can be downloaded from our website. Please complete a booking slip and cheque for each tour and send it to the appropriate tour co-ordinator. Make cheques payable to BAoS and write the tour name and date on reverse of the cheque. An email will be sent as soon as payment has been received to confirm your place on the tour. Fees are not refundable unless we can fill your place on the waiting list.
